

JOHANSSON /PROJECTS/

ANDREW CATANESE | PRESS

5 Standout Shows to See at Small Galleries This August July 29, 2024 by Maxwell Rabb for Artsy “The paintings are characterized by Catanese’s expressive brushwork, made up of loose, textural marks that conjure a sense of movement...”

Artist Talk with Tony Bravo: “A lot of the ways I relate to the natural world is through fluidity and movement which goes back to our conversation about queerness, and for that it I have a better understanding of myself in relation to everything else around me”

Interview: Finding Inspiration on the Run June 2022 by David Gleisner for janji.com
“Andrew’s work embodies his curiosity about the encounters that bring us closer to our natural origins. As an ultra mountain runner and Janji Field Team member, he indulges this curiosity with trail runs around his California home that connect him with members of his natural community, from snakes to black tail deer. We chatted with Andrew to learn more about his art, his running, and the myriad ways that they inform each other.”